

Do I get an SSL certificate for my help center?

Before you sign up

Regardless of your subscription plan and whether you have your help center on a custom domain or simply on one provided by us, you always get a free SSL certificate for all your help centers.

The certificates are usually issued by Let's Encrypt or Amazon but if you need a custom one for your help center feel free to write to us and we will think of something. You may use the contacts form to get in touch with us.
