

Similar articles detection and alerts

Authoring Content

Sometimes you may forget there's already an article for the same topic that you've just started writing about but don't worry because HelpCenter.io has your back. It will step in and let you know in case it detects you may be writing duplicate content thus you won't end up doing the same work twice.

Hey, just a heads up. We have found a similar article with title: Can I manage more than 1 help center with 1 account?. You may want to combine these two or simply change a bit the title.

many help centers can I manage with 1 account?

Here goes the content of your article...